NEWBORN VISITING PROGRAM

SOUTH SHORE COMMUNITY ACTION COUNCIL

Helping People Help Themselves

Newborn Visiting Program

Sponsored by

The Coordinated Family and Community Engagement Grant

Newborn Visiting is a new program being offered by South Shore Community Action Council. This is a free service provided at no cost to parents:

- Do you have questions about caring for your newborn?
- Would you like to talk to a nurse?
- Would you like her to visit you in your home?

We are offering you assistance with the toughest job you will ever have, that of being a parent. Parenting begins in the prenatal stage and goes on for a lifetime. We'd like to help you get started on the right track with parent education in your home and resources to help you along the way.

Our Newborn Parent Support nurse will meet with you one-on-one to answer your questions about newborn health, development, and childcare resources. Together, we can help your family grow.

This program is being funded by a new grant from the Massachusetts Department of Early Education and Care.
